

Northwestern

Department of History

Assistant or Associate Professor, African American History/History of Race in the 19th-Century United States

The Department of History at Northwestern University invites applications for a tenure-stream position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in the history of the United States in the nineteenth century, with a focus on African American history or the histories of race, racism, and struggles for racial justice.

A letter of application, CV, writing sample (no longer than an article or dissertation/book chapter), and three letters of recommendation (sent separately) must be submitted electronically via the link on our departmental website by October 4th, 2021. Duties include research, undergraduate and graduate teaching and advising Ph.D. students.

AA/EOE. Northwestern University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer of all protected classes. Women, racial and ethnic minorities, individuals with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Hiring is contingent upon eligibility to work in the United States.

If you have any questions about submitting your application, please contact Annerys Cano.

AAIHS
African American Intellectual History Society

<https://www.aaihs.org/resources/af-am-job-openings/>